Key Takeaways

Cable tray top left bends typically range from $0. 80 to $150 per piece, depending on material, size, and supplier.

Price Overview

The cost of a cable tray top left bend varies widely based on material, dimensions, and manufacturer: Stainless steel or aluminum wire mesh bends: $2 to $50 per piece for standard sizes, with high-grade or heavy-duty options reaching $100–$150. Galvanized steel or powder-coated bends: $1 to $25 per piece, commonly used in industrial or commercial installations.

Legrand Cablofil or Eaton B-

Line branded bends: Trade prices for 90° or 45° bends typically start around $26–$35 for small sizes and can exceed $100 for larger or specialized bends.

Factors Affecting Price

Bend Angle and Type: 45° bends are generally less expensive than 90° bends. Vertical inside or outside bends may cost more due to complexity. Material: Stainless steel is more expensive than aluminum or galvanized steel due to corrosion resistance and durability.

Size: Wider or deeper trays require larger bends, increasing material and cost. Supplier and Quantity: Bulk orders or wholesale purchases can reduce per-unit cost, while single-piece orders from specialty suppliers may be higher.

Supplier Options

Platt Electric Supply: Offers a wide range of 45° and 90° bends in steel, aluminum, and stainless steel. Alibaba: Bulk options for industrial cable tray bends starting as low as $0. 80 per piece for standard sizes.eBay: Retail and surplus options, with prices from $20 to $100+ depending on brand and condition.

Legrand Price List: Trade pricing for branded bends, typically $26–$35 for standard 90° bends.

Recommendation

For a top left bend, identify the required angle, material, and tray width first. For small commercial projects, aluminum or galvanized steel bends are cost-effective. For industrial or corrosive environments, stainless steel bends are recommended despite higher cost.

Comparing suppliers like Platt, Alibaba, and Legrand can help find the best price for your specific requirements.
