Customs Declaration for Core Switch LPO

Overview

Customs Declaration Core Switch LPO A practical checklist for eCommerce businesses to manage the Customs Declaration Service switch smoothly and avoid disr.

Key Takeaways

To import a Core Switch under an LPO, you must prepare a commercial invoice, customs value declaration, proof of origin, and any required technical regulatory certificates, and submit them through the appropriate customs procedure.

Key Documents Required

Commercial Invoice: This is the primary document evidencing the transaction between the exporter and importer. It should include the total invoice value, currency, description of the Core Switch, and terms of delivery. While no specific form is required, it is recommended to provide both the original and a copy, preferably in English, and signed if possible for smoother customs processing.

Customs Value Declaration: If the value of the Core Switch exceeds EUR 20,000, a Customs Value Declaration (form DV1) must be submitted along with the Single Administrative Document (SAD). This declaration helps customs assess the taxable value, including the cost of the goods, transport, and insurance up to the first EU entry point. Proof of Origin: A certificate of origin may be required to confirm the country of manufacture, which can affect tariff rates and eligibility for trade agreements.

Technical Regulatory Certificates: Electronic equipment like a Core Switch must comply with EU technical regulations. Hewlett Packard Enterprise products, for example, require Declarations of Conformity, which certify compliance with EU standards. These certificates should be referenced using the product model or regulatory model number, not the SKU.

Customs Declaration Process

Submission: Customs declarations must be submitted online at the customs office where the goods are presented. The declaration indicates the intention to place the Core Switch under an EU customs procedure, such as import for free circulation. Simplified Procedures: If eligible, you may use simplified customs procedures, which allow centralised clearance and reduce interactions with customs.

Procedure Codes (PCs) and Additional Procedure Codes (APCs) must be correctly applied to each goods item in the declaration. Insurance: Transport insurance is recommended to cover risks during shipping, including handling, storage, and transit.

Practical Steps

Prepare the commercial invoice with all transaction details. Obtain the Customs Value Declaration if the shipment exceeds EUR 20,000. Secure proof of origin and technical regulatory certificates.

Submit the customs declaration online using the correct procedure codes. Ensure transport insurance is in place for the shipment. Following these steps ensures that your Core Switch LPO is cleared efficiently and complies with EU customs regulations.
