Overview of Pricing

Dongya Cable Trays, like other Chinese manufacturers, offer factory-direct pricing that depends on the type of tray, material, and order volume. Common materials include steel, stainless steel, aluminum, FRP (fiberglass reinforced plastic), and epoxy-coated trays. Standard trays are generally more affordable, while specialized trays for corrosive or outdoor environments cost more due to enhanced durability and anti-corrosion properties.

Order Volume: Bulk orders often receive discounted factory pricing, especially for large industrial projects. Accessories: Brackets, covers, clamps, and hangers are usually priced separately and can add 10–20% to the total cost.

Procurement Tips

Request a Quote: Contact Dongya or verified distributors directly to get a tailored quote based on your project requirements. Compare Materials: Choose between steel, aluminum, or FRP depending on environmental conditions and budget. Check Minimum Order Quantities (MOQs): Factory pricing often requires a minimum order to qualify for discounts.

Consider Shipping Costs: International shipping and customs duties can significantly affect the final cost.

Conclusion

While exact factory prices for Dongya Cable Trays depend on specifications, standard trays start around $25 per meter, with specialized or corrosion-resistant trays reaching up to $120 per meter. For precise pricing, it is recommended to request a direct quote from Dongya or authorized distributors, specifying material, size, and quantity to obtain the most accurate factory price.
