Fiber optic tray mounting pigtails

Overview

This guide covers everything: what fiber optic pigtails are, how they differ from patch cords, which connector and polish type to specify, how to choose between mechanical and fusion splicing, and the real-world applications where pigtails are the right call. Browse our large selection of fiber optic pigtails and splice trays in multimode and single-mode fibers. DIN24 is used for crossing over cables, patchcords and pigtails. Its small size and a special clamp system make it possible to place DIN24 in most fiber optic distribution frames. By combining factory-installed connectors with spliced bare fiber, pigtails ensure that network installers can create. Century Fiber Optics pigtail assemblies are for use in our line of rack mount and wall mount enclosures or any enclosure that utilizes the LGX 6-pack form factor.
