Key Takeaways

Key suppliers of secondary distribution boxes in Guyana include National Hardware Guyana, Akamai Incorporated, Massy Distribution Guyana, and Prem's Electrical Store.

National Hardware Guyana

National Hardware Guyana is a leading supplier and manufacturer in the construction and hardware sector. While primarily known for building materials, the company has expanded into manufacturing and distribution of electrical products, including components for power distribution systems. They have a strong presence in sourcing and manufacturing products for the construction and industrial sectors, making them a potential source for secondary distribution boxes and related electrical equipment.

Akamai Incorporated

Akamai Incorporated specializes in high-quality power solutions for industrial and commercial sectors in Guyana. They offer a wide range of electrical distribution products, including transformers, armored cables, bus bars, PAD mount transformers, and other power components. Their inventory and expertise make them a reliable supplier for secondary distribution boxes and associated equipment.

Massy Distribution Guyana

Massy Distribution Guyana is a distributor of electrical and industrial products. While specific product listings for secondary distribution boxes are not detailed online, they provide a broad range of electrical distribution solutions and can be contacted directly for inquiries regarding availability and specifications. Prem's Electrical StorePrem's Electrical Store has been serving Guyana since 1992, supplying top-brand electrical equipment for residential, commercial, and industrial projects.

They offer expert advice and support for electrical distribution needs, including secondary distribution boxes, and can accommodate custom project requirements.

How to Source

Contact the companies directly via their websites or phone numbers to inquire about product availability, specifications, and pricing. Consider visiting local showrooms or distribution centers to inspect products and confirm compliance with Guyana's electrical standards. For bulk or industrial orders, Akamai Incorporated and National Hardware Guyana are particularly suited due to their industrial-scale inventory and manufacturing capabilities.

These companies collectively provide a comprehensive network for sourcing secondary distribution boxes and related electrical distribution equipment in Guyana.
