How much does it cost per meter to lay 4-core fiber optic cable

Overview

Discover the cost of fiber optic cable in this pricing guide. Learn material prices, installation factors, and what impacts total project costs overall.

Key Takeaways

A 4-core fiber optic cable typically costs between $0. 40 and $1. 80 per meter, depending on type and environment.

The price of a 4-core fiber optic cable varies based on cable type, installation environment, and fiber specifications. For basic indoor distribution cables, prices start around $0. 40 per meter, while ruggedized outdoor or armored cables designed for harsh conditions can reach up to $1.

80 per meter. Standard single-mode OS2 4-core cables with tight-buffered construction and PVC jackets usually cost $60–$90 for a 100-meter reel, with bulk orders often receiving discounts. Factors Affecting Price1.

Fiber Type: Single-mode fibers (SMF) are generally used for long-distance communication and are slightly more expensive than multimode fibers (MMF) due to higher performance requirements. Multimode fibers (OM3/OM4) are common in data centers and short-reach applications, sometimes costing less per meter but requiring higher-grade cores for performance. 2.

Cable Construction and Environment: Indoor cables with PVC or LSZH jackets are cheaper. Outdoor cables with PE or UV-resistant jackets, or armored cables for direct burial, increase costs by 20–50% due to additional protection and compliance requirements. 3.

Bulk Purchasing: Ordering larger quantities (e.g., over 1,000 meters) often reduces the per-meter cost through tiered discounts. 4. Customization: Custom lengths, color-coded jackets, hybrid configurations, or factory-terminated assemblies can slightly increase the unit cost but improve installation efficiency and maintenance.

Summary

For a typical 4-core fiber optic cable, expect: Indoor, standard cable: ~$0. 40–$0. 60 per meterOutdoor, armored, or ruggedized cable: ~$1.

20–$1. 80 per meter These prices reflect material costs only; installation, connectors, and labor will add to the total project cost.
