Single-phase intelligent power distribution cabinet manufacturer

Overview

Intelligent Power Distribution Manufacturer | JuhonkiaAs a smart power distribution supplier, Juhonkia focuses on stable operation, flexible configuration.

Key Takeaways

Leading manufacturers of single-phase intelligent PDUs include Austin Hughes, EDP Europe, Sipolar, and Burland, offering customizable, remotely monitored, and secure power distribution solutions.

Key Manufacturers and Offerings

Austin Hughes provides a range of InfraPower Single Phase Rack PDUs, including intelligent, metered, and basic models. Their intelligent PDUs support remote monitoring and on/off outlet switching, suitable for data centers and IT environments.

ED

P Europe offers the iPower ACU series, which can be manufactured as single-phase units.

These PD

Us feature advanced control units, remote monitoring, per-socket energy measurement, programmable start-up, and environmental sensors for temperature and humidity. Sipolar specializes in industrial-grade smart PDU cabinet strips. Their single-phase intelligent PDUs include features such as overload protection, surge protection, LCD displays, remote monitoring, and customizable outlet configurations.

They also provide tailored solutions to meet specific power distribution needs in server rooms, laboratories, and offices. Burland manufactures the iPower range of intelligent PDUs, including 13A single-phase units.

These PD

Us are fully UK-manufactured, offer local and remote monitoring, precise electrical measurement, environmental and security monitoring, and can be customized for outlet topology and rating.

Features to Consider

Remote Monitoring & Control: Ability to monitor power usage and switch outlets remotely. Environmental Sensors: Temperature and humidity monitoring to protect sensitive equipment. Customizable Outlets: Support for C13, C19, or other socket types to match connected devices.

Safety Protections: Overload, surge, over-current, and overheating protection. Scalability: Options for multi-socket configurations to accommodate growing IT infrastructure.

Conclusion

For single-phase intelligent power distribution cabinets, Austin Hughes, EDP Europe, Sipolar, and Burland are reputable manufacturers offering robust, customizable, and remotely manageable PDUs suitable for data centers, industrial, and commercial applications. When selecting a supplier, consider load capacity, outlet type, monitoring features, and environmental protections to ensure safe and efficient power management.
