Excel Electric Group

Excel Electric Group, based in Bluebell, Dublin, has been manufacturing and distributing electrical installation materials in Ireland since 1974. They specialize in in-house production of cable support systems, including aluminum cable trays, with a wide range of sizes and customer-specific solutions. Their products are designed for both the Irish and UK markets, ensuring compliance with local standards and durability for industrial and commercial installations.

GroupSumiGroupSumi offers a comprehensive selection of cable trays, including aluminum options suitable for indoor and outdoor use. Their trays are designed to withstand demanding conditions, and they provide all necessary accessories such as supports, joints, and connectors.

Group

Sumi focuses on durability and ease of installation, making them a strong choice for both residential and large-scale industrial projects.

Peter Curran Electric

Peter Curran Electric in Galway provides a wide range of heavy-duty aluminum cable trays and trunking, crafted from high-quality materials for long-lasting performance. They emphasize user-friendly installation and offer expert advice on load capacity and tray selection, making them ideal for projects requiring tailored solutions.

Other Wholesalers

National Electrical Wholesalers and Electrical Wholesaler Ireland also supply aluminum cable trays across the country, offering competitive pricing and fast delivery. These wholesalers are suitable for standard installations and bulk purchasing needs.

Recommendation

For high-quality, locally manufactured aluminum cable trays, Excel Electric Group is the top choice due to their long-standing reputation, in-house manufacturing, and extensive product range. For broader selection and accessories, GroupSumi and Peter Curran Electric are excellent alternatives, especially for specialized or large-scale projects.
